

ASHELY ROBINSON SCHOLARSHIP WINNERS

Kisa

Kisa is a Freshman Media Journalism and Film Major at Howard University. Being at Howard for only two months, she has already become involved by serving under the President's cabinet as a First Year Associate and competing and placing as First Runner Up in her Residence Hall's annual pageant. She was also very academically focused by maintaining a 3.85 unweighted GPA throughout high school. Her academic success made her a member of both the National Honors Society and the National Spanish Honors Society. Kisa served as a positive role model by serving as the first ever Washington state representative in the nationally recognized Miss HBCU Teen Scholarship Pageant, holding the title of Miss Washington HBCU Teen. In the future, Kisa has hopes of becoming an entertainment lawyer to ensure that Black entertainment in the form of music, television, and film is protected in this country.
